Tyler Robinson is co-head of our European Disputes practice based in London. He is dual-qualified in the United States and England and handles a wide variety of high-stakes commercial disputes in the US and English courts and international commercial arbitrations seated in venues across Asia, Europe, and North and South America.

His clients include leading global private equity firms and their portfolio companies, hedge funds, and multinational companies in the investment, pharmaceutical, food and beverage, consumer retail, energy, telecommunications, defense and insurance industries.

Tyler has extensive experience before arbitration tribunals throughout the world, including UNCITRAL, ICC, LCIA, AAA/ICDR, HKIAC, JAMS, SCC and ad-hoc international arbitrations. He has litigated cross-border disputes in the national courts of the United States, England, Italy, the Netherlands, Luxembourg, Cyprus, Singapore, Hong Kong, South Korea, Indonesia, New Zealand, India, Brazil, Uruguay, Argentina and the Cayman Islands and has extensive experience working closely with local counsel in foreign jurisdictions throughout the world.

Tyler also regularly advises clients on contentious and regulatory matters that arise in connection with the firm's corporate transactional practices, where a litigation-experienced perspective can offer new solutions or creative arguments to advance the client's commercial and transactional goals.

He is recognized in The Legal 500 as "a master at collating highly complex and technical elements cohesively" and was named a National Law Journal "ADR Champion" in 2017.

Prior to joining Simpson Thacher in 2000, Tyler served as Law Clerk to the Hon. Ferdinand Fernandez of the United States Court of Appeals for the Ninth Circuit in California and the Hon. Thomas Griesa of the United States District Court for the Southern District of New York.
