Bill Russell is a Partner at Simpson Thacher & Bartlett LLP in the Firm's Litigation Department and Head of the Firm's Bankruptcy and Restructuring Litigation Practice. He represents clients in a wide variety of commercial disputes including bankruptcy and reorganization matters, banking litigation, securities litigation, and contractual and transactional disputes, and has tried cases in state and federal courts, as well as in arbitral proceedings. His clients include leading financial institutions, private equity sponsors, corporations and other businesses.

He has handled cases involving derivative transactions, residential mortgage-backed securities, secured lending syndicates, M&A transactions, false advertising claims, maritime disputes, Ponzi schemes, apparel licensing agreements and auction rate securities, among other issues. He recently represented the debtors in In re Anagram Holdings, LLC, et al., In re Pyxus International, et al. and In re Arsenal Resources Development LLC, et al. He also represented the Unsecured Creditors Committee in In re Gawker Media LLC, et al. and represented one of the lead creditors in the In re Jefferson County Chapter 9 proceedings that, at the time, were the largest municipal bankruptcy proceedings in U.S. history. He was one of the leaders of the defense group in Adelphia Recovery Trust v. Bank of America, et al. and led the negotiations that resulted in a settlement of that litigation for a small fraction of the claimed damages. He also obtained a $168 million judgment for a large financial institution in a case involving an interest rate derivative transaction with a Brazilian manufacturing concern and is currently representing a number of financial institutions in connection with claims arising out of their issuance of residential mortgage-backed securities.

He maintains an active pro bono practice and served as Co-Chair of the Firm's Pro Bono Committee for almost 10 years. He has represented pro bono clients in a number of areas including housing, voting rights, education and discrimination matters. He represented the Campaign for Fiscal Equity in its successful constitutional challenge to the public
